

Worship Resources Survey

Don't you wish you knew where to get new and exciting liturgies for your congregation? Do you sometimes wish you could try something new? Every now and then, do you find that your worship resources just don't have what you need?

The Grand Canyon Presbytery's Theology & Worship Committee is revising its list of the leading worship resources (books, magazines, Web sites, etc.) used by the presbytery's many worship leaders—including you! The committee provides this annotated list of resources to all the churches via the Theology & Worship page on the Presbytery's Web site. The committee feels this knowledge-sharing will help many churches locate the tools necessary to provide exciting new opportunities for worship while staying within the Presbyterian tradition.

To do this, the committee needs your help. Please take a moment to complete the back of this form with the name of the two or three resources you find the most helpful when planning your congregation's worship. The more information you provide, the more helpful your recommendation will be. Feel free to copy this form and share it with anyone you know who might have great stuff to share!

You can return the form to the Presbytery Office, or e-mail the information to the committee chairman, Glyndon Morris, at glyndon67@netscape.net.

And thank you for sharing!
